The Word of the Day

Months 1-12

Focus on one word each day with your baby! Language and cognitive skills are important to your child's early development. If you're looking to add to baby's learning, focus on teaching them a new word each day!

372 words by 13 months of age -

Based on 31 day months, starting at age 1 month through the end of month 12.

Words are carefully placed by age appropriateness,

For an infant who cannot speak yet, this activity is not intended to teach them how to talk, but more-so for you to focus on one specific word on top of your regular communication with baby. They may not be able to understand or talk back, but these words are the stepping stones to their future cognitive and language development.

If you have older children in your home, this is a perfect way to include them in your baby's learning process. Have them use the word as much as possible. Babies thrive on repetition. And don't forget to use previous words often as baby will, eventually, start to pick up on it.

What is your baby getting out of learning words in their early months?

- communication & language development
- social & emotional development
- babies love to listen to your voice
- babies learn to speak/make noise from the sounds they hear around them (Possibly the more talking & reading they encounter, the sooner they'll talk themselves)
- putting in effort at a young age to show your care in baby's development, allows baby to feel valued as they grow older.
- the more words they hear as a young baby, the more they will feel confident in communicating when they are older.
- can aid in learning sign language. Look up the sign for the specific word of the day

Instructions

- Try to use the “word of the day” as much as possible throughout your day with child.
- Use it in sentences or songs, and emphasize the ‘word.’ Make sure to clearly enunciate the ‘word’ each time.
- If it is a tangible item, try to find it for baby to visually learn. If needed, print a picture!
- This is also an easy way to learn sign language. Each morning, look up the sign, so that you can use the hand motions in this language, as well as speaking it.

You can start whenever you want! Since there is a different word each day, all you have to do is find the month of age that baby is (don’t go off of days of child’s age, just the month)

For example:
My child is,
5 months old & 8 days
and it is,
March 15th

I would go to the “5 Months” page and start with day “15.” That word would be “Easy,” then follow along from there.

If the month only has 30 days, you could either skip the last word, OR focus on two words that day. Most likely all 372 words in this activity will be said to your child within their first year without creating a whole day around it. But, use this learning tool as much as possible for baby’s growth.
